

Mariner Software

Portal > Knowledgebase > Persona (Mac) > Can I share a Persona project with more than one user? Can I use a project file on more than one computer?

Can I share a Persona project with more than one user? Can I use a project file on more than one computer?

Customer Service - 2021-05-14 - in Persona (Mac)

Generally, it should be possible to share a Persona project file with other users as long as the following conditions are met:

- The file is not accessed from a shared location. It is not recommended to store a project file in a location where two or more users might access the file at the same time.
- The file is not being shared actively. It is not recommended to store a project file in a location where it might be backed up or synced automatically.

It is good practice generally to transfer a file within an archive file (for example, within a .ZIP file) instead of transferring the file on its own.