Mariner Software

I have two Macs, can I install my software on both using the same single user license?

Jim Henson - 2015-03-24 - Purchasing and Policies

I have two Macs, can I install my software on both using the same single user license?

We have a liberal licensing policy (compared to other companies) whereas with all of our products, you have the right to use one serial on up to two Macs (usually a desktop and a laptop). The only catch is that you need to be the only one using the product.